

U. S. DEMANDS OPEN DOOR POLICY IN ORIENT

POWER BY MIGHT IS CONDEMNED BY PRES. ROOSEVELT

Tells World Americans Will Protect Western Hemisphere

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The United States, through President Roosevelt, served notice on the world today it would protect the western hemisphere from foreign interference and, while desiring disarmament, would not disarm "while neighbor nations arm to the teeth."

The President, in his first pronouncement on American foreign policy since the Czechoslovakian crisis, made a virtually unprecedented shattering condemnation of nations which employ force, exile and repression as instruments of national policy.

He declared governments of foreign nations "must not threaten the world with the disaster of war" and asserted no useful purpose is served to suggest "either to the American people or the people of other nations that the American government in its policies, its practices and its servants are actuated by motives of dishonor or corruption."

"To do so," he said, "is, of necessity, an attack on the American system of constitutional representative government itself."

Radio Broadcast
The President voiced his views last night in an address broadcast from the White House to the eighth annual New York Herald Tribune forum on current problems.

The chief executive followed his predecessor, Herbert Hoover, who urged the United States to initiate resumption of world economic conferences as a vital step towards peace, and Viscount Halifax, the British foreign minister.

The British cabinet minister, in a broadcast from London, urged the United States to join hands with Great Britain in establishing world peace, and again defended his nation's course in the recent crisis.

Sitting before a microphone in the oval room of the White House, President Roosevelt deplored armaments competition, but asserted until foreign nations give something more than verbal assurances they desire disarmament—until disarmament discussions are actually started, the United States must arm "to meet with success any application of force against us."

"World Is Neighbor"
Asserting that "we recognize that the world today has become our neighbor" the President dwelt on the reciprocal obligations involved.

"There must be a deliberate and conscious will that such political changes as changing needs require shall be made peacefully."

"That means a due regard for the sanctity of treaties. It means deliberate avoidance of policies which arouse fear and distrust."

The United States, the President said, "does not seek to impose on any other people either our way of life or our internal form of government."

"But we are determined to maintain and protect that way of life and that form of government for ourselves."

Hoover's Attitude
In a message which he delivered personally former President Hoover took the attitude that in the interest of future democracy the United States must remain aloof from European conflict, even from a war between the democratic and totalitarian states.

Such an attitude, he was convinced, "will serve the world best and it will serve liberty best."

The former president made clear he did not mean Americans should disassociate themselves from efforts to maintain world peace.

Mr. Hoover said the world's troubles were primarily economic and that relief of economic pressure would not only bring peace but also "relax" despotism in Europe.

Boy Kills Sister in Accidental Shooting

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A Policeman Harry Menger, Sr., was awakened today by his three-year-old son, Harry, who shook him and cried:

"Oh, Daddy! My ears hurt!"

The boy led his father to the nursery where he had been sleeping near his sister, Edith Jessica, aged five.

Edith was dead. She had been shot through the head. The policeman's service revolver lay on the floor.

Assistant District Attorney Edward Potter said it was a clear case of accidental shooting—that the boy could not understand what he had done.

Honest Man
Goldsboro, N. C., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Walter P. Wrenn found a purse containing $70 and gave it to a woman in an automobile at his filling station who said she had lost it.

A man in the car handed Wrenn a nickel and said, "go buy yourself a drink. I have found an honest man."

After the couple left, Wrenn asked one of his attendants if the man had paid for having his battery cleaned.

"No," the attendant replied. "He said he paid you."

JAP CONQUERORS PUSH AHEAD WITH NEW OBJECTIVES

Shanghai, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The Japanese conquerors of Canton and Hankow pushed ahead today with three objectives.

One was to disperse Chinese troops retreating from Hankow, erstwhile provisional capital which fell Tuesday, before they could consolidate new positions.

Another was to occupy 685 miles of railway linking Canton, conquered last week, and Hankow.

The third called for the penetration of intervening areas in Kwangtung (Canton, Kiangsi, Hunan and Hupeh (Hankow) provinces.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's armies were taking up positions southwest of Hankow and claimed to have repulsed Japanese attacks designed to cut the railway north of Sienning.

Slice Off Railroad
Pushing from the north and the south, Japanese concentrated efforts on slicing off fifty miles of rails at each end of the Canton-Hankow line.

The invaders struck overland toward Pakonghow, 50 miles north of the South China metropolis, while units expected soon to sever the north end near Sienning, 50 miles south of Hankow.

The occupation of the remaining 585 miles was scheduled to be followed by drives on Yochow, a strategic position controlling both the railroad and the Yangtze river 150 miles upriver from Hankow, and Changsha, 230 miles from Hankow.

Nearly 100 foreign missionaries are stationed along the railroad.

Japanese troops broke through the north wall of Teian, successfully defended for nearly three months, as a prelude to a campaign down the Kiukiang-Nanchang railroad to the Chinese air base at Nanchang, 160 miles southeast of Hankow.

(Domei, Japanese news agency, in a dispatch from Hankow to Tokyo, reported that the Japanese army had captured Teian.)

Kill 1,300,000 Chinese
Dispatches announced complete Japanese occupation of Hankow and its sister cities, Wuchang and Hanyang, last night without major Chinese resistance, but said formal entry into them was scheduled for Nov. 3, birthday of the late Japanese Emperor Meiji, grandfather of Emperor Hirohito.

With the occupation, the invaders have taken over the richest towns and cities in 13 provinces in almost 16 months of warfare using an estimated 800,000 men against an estimated 3,000,000 poorly-equipped Chinese. Foreign observers estimate Chinese casualties at more than 1,300,000 since July 7, 1937, and Japanese at 350,000.

"Fight to Last Breath"
Dispatches from Chungking, the new provisional capital, said Chinese leaders were rallying the nation to continue the war. Foreign Minister Wang Chung-hui said the fall of Canton and Hankow had not altered the Central Government's foreign policy and that any mediation must provide just the honorable terms for China. He added, "China will go on fighting until the last breath."

Twenty-Three Ounce Chicago Baby Girl
Is Clinging to Slender Thread of Life

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A 23-ounce baby girl, one of the smallest babies ever born in Chicago, clung to a slender thread of life today in an incubator at St. Bernard's hospital.

The infant, born Tuesday night to Mrs. Jean Freckleton, 24, was given a "10 per cent chance to live" by Dr. Max Bernauer, who is in charge of the case.

Dr. Bernauer said normally in such cases the baby does not live more than a few minutes. "But all of us hope that having weathered the first 24 hours, the baby will grow into a healthy, normal child," Dr. Bernauer said.

Twelve hours after her birth, the baby received a transfusion of blood—about one gram—from her father, Elmer. Then she was placed on a routine schedule of nourishment, receiving injections of glucose in a salt solution every three hours.

Nearly three years ago Chicago laid claim to the smallest infant ever born in Jacqueline Jean Benson, who weighed 12 ounces at birth on Jan. 14, 1936. Today she is a normal, healthy child.

CIO WINS COURT ORDER STOPPING MAYOR'S ACTION

Restraints Interfering in Rights to Speak in Public Parks

Newark, N. J., Oct. 27.—(AP)—The CIO and allied organizations won a federal court order today restraining Mayor Frank Hague and fellow Jersey City officials from "deporting" members, or interfering with their rights to speak in public parks, distribute leaflets and carry placards.

The decision was handed down by Circuit Court Judge William Clark, who as district judge sat at the trial last spring of an injunction suit brought by the Committee for Industrial Organization, the American Civil Liberties Union, and several co-plaintiffs. They asked that Hague and his colleagues on the city administration be enjoined from interfering with their organizational activities.

History of Case.
Filing of the suit followed interruption of the CIO's attempt last November to distribute literature and organize workers in Jersey City—a move which Hague called an "invasion." Police arrested 13 organizers and sympathizers and escorted scores of others from the city.

In his opinion today, which Judge Clark has expressed hope will be appealed, he recommended a "modified form of public censorship"—a requirement that an advance copy of a speech must be furnished to authorities in cases where "the particular persons applying for permits had on previous occasions addressed similar audiences with resulting disturbances."

No Competent Evidence.
The 15,000-word decision did not rule on the plaintiffs' complaint that the Hague administration intimidated owners of private meeting halls into refusing to rent to them. The judge ruled there was no competent evidence to connect city officials with the inability to obtain indoor meeting places.

Neither did the decision deal with the prayer for relief from interference with picketing, union organization and other rights under the national labor relations act. Judge Clark said he already had upheld these rights in an injunction issued in another case, which is now up on appeal.

Judge Clark's decision, bringing to an end the 10-month-old case in which the American Civil Liberties Union joined the CIO and a number of its leaders and affiliates as co-plaintiff, did not once mention Communism.

This despite the fact that Hague, in his five and a half days on the witness stand, had discoursed at great length about his self-styled "war on Reds and radicals," denounced most CIO leaders as Communists, and declared that many of his tactics which were under fire were motivated by his determination to prevent Communists from "invading" the city he has governed a quarter of a century.

Opposed to Communism
His constituents, the tall and athletic Hague said, were militantly opposed to Communism and solidly behind him in his "fight for Americanism."

Judge Clark said mention of Communism was not needed in the decision because it was unnecessary to "speak of the particular allergy with which the people of Jersey City were portrayed as afflicted, because of the proof of the idea allegedly giving rise to that condition rested on double and triple hearsay."

The judge said his "avoidance of

CELEBRATION FOR CITY'S HALLOWEEN IS BEING PLANNED

A municipal Halloween celebration in Dixon was outlined at a meeting last evening at the Chamber of Commerce with the appointment of committees and the announcement of the program. The celebration, parade and program is being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and financed through the merchants' division. At last evening's meeting, it was decided to hold a parade which will conclude with the burning of Mr. Gloom and Mrs. Grouch. Prizes will be given for the most original, most attractive, funniest and grotesque costumes. Each entrant is requested to bring a card bearing the name and address of the competitor.

The following committees were appointed to assist in making this event, which has attracted hundreds of children as well as grown-ups, in past seasons, a success:

Judges for costumes and amateur hour—James Burke.
Distribution of apples—Grover Wilhelm.
Bonfire and entertainment—Enos Keithley.
Serpentines and noise-makers—Carl Matson.
Distribution—Joe Tusha.
Parade master—Chester Barriage.

COPIES OF LETTERS AS EVIDENCE IN SPY TRIAL ARE MISSING

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A book containing photographic copies of eight letters introduced into evidence by the government at the German spy trial was missing today when the trial resumed.

The photographic copies, made at the direction of the British Intelligence Service, were of letters sent by Guenther Gustav Rumrich, former U. S. army sergeant who pleaded guilty and turned state's evidence at the trial, to a German agent named Sanders in care of Mrs. Jessie Jordan at Dundee, Scotland.

In addition to the copies of seven Rumrich letters, the book contained a photographic copy of one letter written to the same address by Rumrich's brother from Prague, Czechoslovakia.

The staff of U. S. Attorney Lamar Hardy's office, it was disclosed, made a prolonged but vain search for the missing documents before today's session started.

For the second time at the trial, a woman pointed from the witness chair to lanky Otto Hermann Voss in the row of defendants as one of the visitors who conferred with William Lonkowski in his upstairs "work-room."

Mrs. Werner Gudenberg, whose husband is a missing defendant in the case, rose from the chair and bowed stiffly at Voss when asked, "can you identify him?"

She said he was a friend of her husband and also of Lonkowski who fled to Germany following his arrest by customs agents.

Mrs. Gudenberg's husband was employed as a department foreman in the Curtiss Wright airplane plant at Buffalo.

She said Lonkowski, accompanied by his wife and a Mrs. Beck, came to their home in Buffalo in June, 1935, and "introduced himself as a friend of Otto Hermann Voss, who, he said, had asked him to call on us."

She said they conversed in German which she didn't understand. The government contends that Gudenberg and Voss, an aviation mechanic, turned over to Lonkowski for transmission to Germany aviation plans they obtained through their working connections.

Westerners Injured in Accident Near Mendota (Telegraph Special Service)

Mendota, Oct. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. W. Bell of Missoula, Mont., and the Misses Carolyn and Emily Bell of St. Paul, Minn., and Mrs. T. J. Flagerty of LaSalle were involved in an accident which occurred eight miles south of Mendota on U. S. route 51 at about 12:30 yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Flagerty, traveling north on route 51, is reported to have been driving on the wrong side of the paving. The car driven by Mr. Bell, going south, left the cement to avoid a head-on crash, and in returning to the slab, swerved across the highway and crashed into the ditch.

Mrs. Bell was quite seriously injured about the shoulders and back. Mr. Bell sustained a cut over the eye, the other occupants being only slightly injured. All were removed to the Harris hospital in that city.

Mrs. Flagerty failed to stop and later was arrested by state highway police who took her before Justice Roy McInturf at Mendota where charges were filed by the officers and she was assessed a fine of $15 and costs.

LYONS QUESTIONS LUCAS ON STAND WITH BOSS RULE

Asks Demo Candidate If He Is Aligned With Machine

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Senatorial campaign speeches included today a question by Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee, who asked whether Scott W. Lucas, the Democratic candidate, had "aligned himself with machine politics and boss rule" under the harmony alliance with the Kelly-Nash Chicago organization.

Lucas, who followed Lyons on the air last night, asked whether "we of Illinois are so backward that we would turn our nation back to Hoover and his satellites."

Used to Fight Bossism

Lyons reviewed the Democratic April primary campaign when Lucas, backed by Governor Horner, raised the "bossism" issue against the Kelly-Nash ticket. He quoted Horner as saying then that "bossism is doomed" and said Lucas had attacked the Chicago Democratic leaders as a "menace to the state."

"Have you, Mr. Lucas, by seeking and accepting the Kelly-Nash support, definitely aligned yourself with machine politics and boss rule as you charged against your primary opponents?" Lyons asked in one of a series of questions.

Lucas accused the GOP ticket of "shadowboxing and fourflushing" on campaign issues. Predicting a Democratic victory of 500,000 votes on November 8, he said: "The leaders of Democracy in every section of Illinois, including Governor Horner and Mayor Kelly, are united in a common purpose, and the real fundamental issue is whether or not we move forward with progress or backward with reaction."

The Democrat told WPA workers to "pin him down x x x when any Republican tells you that he is going to give you a job in private industry at $200 per month. x x x Ask him how it is that he can put you right to work at this salary; how does it happen that private industry has overlooked you and has had no place for you for the past six years."

Lucas For New Deal

Lucas said he is "a Progressive Democrat x x x in sympathy with the humanitarian objectives of the New Deal."

Quoting at length from Horner-Lucas speeches in the primary, Lyons asked Lucas "are you deceiving the thousands of people who voted for you last spring on the 'boss' issue or are you deceiving Kelly-Nash?"

The Republican said Lucas last spring declared the Chicago organization would not approve candidates who wouldn't take orders.

"You have walked out on the only issue of your campaign for nomination," Lyons declared. "You have walked out on the thousands of people who wanted to join your alleged campaign to smash the Kelly-Nash machine."

Secretary on Trial for Shooting Employer When He Sent SOS To Police

Benton Harbor, Mich., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Municipal Judge Frank L. Hammond bound 34-year-old Fern Patricia Dull, blonde secretary, to Circuit court on a murder charge today after an examination in connection with the shooting Oct. 17 of William Holbrook, Benton Harbor attorney and her employer.

Mrs. Dull did not testify at the hearing, held before a crowded courtroom. Holbrook was shot down a few minutes after he had requested police to detain Mrs. Dull because he said she was annoying him.

William J. Pugh, a merchant policeman, testified he saw Mrs. Dull fire two shots at Holbrook, start away, then return and fire two more shots.

Four Grand-Nieces Tell Eccentricities Of Wealthy Man in Effort to Break Will

Kankakee, Ill., Oct. 27.—(AP)—The alleged eccentricities of Alfred Fortin, wealthy real estate dealer, were related to a circuit court jury yesterday by four grand-nieces who are attempting to set aside his will.

Fortin, who died Jan. 22, 1937, left an estate valued at $500,000 to the Gray Nuns, a Catholic order, for future establishment in Bradley, Ill., of an orphanage home. The mother home of the Gray Nuns is in Montreal.

Plaintiffs in the action to break the will, all grand-nieces and grand-nephews, charged Fortin was of unsound mind when the will

Squadron Rests

Wausau, Wis., Oct. 27.—(AP)—A large squadron of flyers, apparently running short of fuel, circled the city again and again in the darkness before lights were turned on at the Alexander airport and a safe landing was effected.

The flyers—a flock of an estimated 1,000 exhausted geese—alighted on the landing field while the attendants, who had switched on the lights as a joke, gaped. The birds rested until morning.

DAMAGE SUIT IS FILED BY GRAND DETOUR COUPLE

Gas Company Is Named in Action Brought in Local Court

Harold and Jane Tuttle of Grand Detour through their attorneys, Gerald Jones of Dixon and Cuve M. Glosser of Ashton, have filed a complaint in the circuit court, demanding judgment against the Protane corporation in the sum of $4,626.75. The complaint sets forth that on Oct. 27, 1936, the residence of the plaintiffs in Dixon township burned, causing damage to the extent of $3,876.75 to personal property which was destroyed in the building.

The action states that the plaintiffs were at the time using a Protane cooking stove and a drum of Protane gas, which was warranted and guaranteed by the defendant firm who manufactured and distributed the gas and stove as being harmless and non-explosive.

Says Gas Exploded
On the above date the complaint states that Mr. Tuttle was engaged in attaching a drum of the gas to a pipe leading to the cooking stove when the gas exploded and ignited, setting fire to the premises, destroying the personal property of the plaintiffs.

As the result of the explosion and fire, Mr. Tuttle set forth that he suffered injuries which confined him to the hospital, during which period he suffered damages for hospital and doctor's bills, loss of time and inability to work in the amount of $750. The plaintiffs in their action, demanded judgment against the Protane corporation for $4,626.75.

John Conard, Veteran Railroad Man, Is Dead

John Conard, 79, a veteran passenger conductor on the North-Western, passed away at his home in River Forest last evening at 8 o'clock. He retired from railroad some time ago and was pensioned by the North-Western. Two years ago last March he suffered a severe stroke and had been confined to his home since. Mr. Conard was a brother-in-law of Mrs. John Wishart of this city and of Miller C. Stitzel of Nelson. He was very well known in Dixon and Nelson, having served as passenger conductor on the North-Western on the main line of the Galena division for several years. He is survived by his wife and one son Elmer, who resides in California.

Ruth McCormick Simms Suffers a Broken Hip

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms suffered a broken hip in a fall yesterday, but she will not permit that to handicap her election campaign activities.

Scheduled to make a radio address last night in behalf of the Republican state tickets, she spoke into the microphone from her hospital bed. "It will take more than a broken hip to silence me," she declared.

Mrs. Simms, wife of Albert G. Simms, slipped on a rug yesterday at Los Poblancos, her ranch home. She formerly served in Congress from Illinois.

NOTE TELLS JAPS INTERFERENCE IN RIGHTS MUST END

Statement Delivered to Tokyo October 6 Is Made Public

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The United States government has told Japan in a strongly-worded note to stop "unwarranted interference" with American rights in China.

The 3,000-word statement, presented by Ambassador Joseph C. Grew in Tokyo Oct. 6 but made public only today, demanded continuance of the "Open Door" policy in the Orient.

An early reply was requested. The unofficial interpretation here was that if a favorable answer did not arrive soon, relations between the two countries would become strained.

The United States accused Japan of seeking to make another Manchukuo out of the portions of China she has occupied, and listed a long series of violations of American business and property rights.

Charge Monopoly Attempts
The note charged Japan with trying to monopolize all trade in China through setting up Pseudo-Chinese monopolies; with manipulating the currency in North China; with altering the tariffs; with keeping American business men from their properties; with censoring and interfering with American mail and telegrams at Shanghai.

It called Japan

HUSKING CONTEST SPOTLIGHT FALLS UPON THE WOMEN

Last Year's Champion to Defend Title Against
Ten Others

By The Associated Press
The corn husking spotlight in Illinois today was centered on the best women huskers of the country.

As seven county corn husking men champions were crowned in contests yesterday, chief interest today was on the national women's championship event on the Godfrey Karlson farm north of Garden Prairie.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wurtz, Capron farm wife who won the national title last year, will defend her championship against 10 other women. The women's competition will be held in connection with the annual Boone county contest.

Close Contests
Close contests were reported in the seven county events. Yesterday as men huskers vied for honors to earn selection for competition in the annual state championship meet at Modesto next Monday.

Irvin Bauman, 1935 state champion, husked 4128 in the allotted 80 minutes to win first place and set a new Woodford county record. Leland Klein of Metamora was second with 4091 bushels and Simon Oltman of El Paso was third with 4044 bushels.

Another former state champion, Harold Holmes, met strong competition in the Henry county contest and finished second. Ed Roman of Atkinson husked 3936 bushels to nose out Holmes, also former county champ, who husked 38 bushels. A Henry county farmer, William Rose, is the defending state champion.

All Time Record
An all-time record for the Stephenson county contest was established by Morrell Johnson of Pearl City. His mark of 4039 bushels was good for first place, with Eugene Wieman of German Valley second with 3958 bushels, and Franklin Ross of German Valley third with 3953 bushels.

Other results yesterday: LaSalle county, Donley Martin of Wallace township, first, 3941 bushels; Floyd Wise of Prairie Center, second, 3848; H. Huss of Ponca, third, 3758.

Champaign county: George Christmas of Sadorus, first, 3457 bushels; Louis Lorenzen of Foosland, second, 3327.

Livingston county: Walter Thompson of Pontiac, first, 30 bushels; Raymond Zehr of Planagan, second, 2426.

Winnebago county: Phillips Poole of Cherry Valley, first, 37-23 bushels.

They'll Plan President's Birthday Parties

The "Fight Infantile Paralysis" committee named to conduct the national campaign climaxed with the annual President's birthday balls throughout the country on Jan. 30 is pictured here at its first meeting with the President in Washington. Left to right, Mr. Roosevelt, Keith Morgan of New York, renamed chairman; George E. Allen of Washington, campaign director; Joseph Schenck of Los Angeles; Basil O'Connor, New York; George W. Shake-Up Which Rocked Czechoslovakia Promotes Slovakia Area to an Autonomy

In the terrific shake-up which has been rocking Czechoslovakia to its foundations, one adjustment has taken place with relatively little destruction. It is the promotion of Slovakia to autonomy. For the big eastern fraction of the Czechoslovak republic, this means an administration of its own for the first time in more than a thousand years.

"The new government gives Slovakia complete control over its own affairs, except matters which also concern the Czechs, such as foreign policy, finances obtained by joint debts, and national defense," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. "The farthest eastern tip of the nation, Ruthenia—adjacent to Slovakia on the east—has governed itself under a similar autonomous arrangement since the formation of the republic."

Becomes Best Seller
"The green valleys of Slovakia shelter a people who have been ruled from capitals outside the province since about 835 A. D., when Prince Mojmir began enlarging the powerful little Moravian Empire, to the west, at Slovakia's expense. (The adjacent western province of Moravia today is a relic of this regime.) Within a century, Slovakia was snatched back into the realm of an eastern capital by invading Magyars, and for the succeeding thousand years until 1918 it was part of Hungary. Yet, through centuries of foreign domination, the Slovaks have doggedly preserved their talents and traditions, and now they emerge as a small but distinct group of people with a culture of their own."

"Until the formation of the Czechoslovak Republic, education in their own language was rare among the Slovaks. Taking stock in 1918 at the end of the Hungarian regime, they found that the former government had provided about 135 Slovak schools per million of Slovak population—none of them of high school rank. Slovakia's chief waterway, and smaller streams to less wooded plains in the south. Flocks and herds high on the mountain-sides give Slovakia a supply of leather, wool, and foodstuffs, including sheep's milk cheese and the quaint Miss Muffet fare, curds and whey. An old Slovak practice is to maintain a public shepherd to tend the flocks of a mountain hamlet, instead of fencing the livestock of individuals separately.

With an area almost equal to that of industrial Bohemia in the west, the province of Slovakia contributed only half as many people to the Czechoslovak Republic. Its 18,900 square miles support three and a third million inhabitants. This uncrowded condition implies more farms, fewer factories. In Slovakia, 60 per cent of the people earn their livelihood by agriculture; in Bohemia, the percentage was only half as high. One-half of Bohemia's wage earners were employed in trade, industry, or communications. In Slovakia, these types of work ab-

Bratislava is Leading Port
"Many of the differences between the two are due to the westernizing influence of Germanic Austria on the former, and the eastern influence of Magyar Hungary—and occasional contacts with the Turks—on the latter. An important factor, however, is the fact that three-fourths of Slovakia is mountainous, from the Little Carpathians in the west to the lofty peaks of the High Tatras on the northeast."

Mountainsides bear a large part of the virgin forests which give the Czechoslovak Republic the advantage of being wooded over one-third of its surface. Logs are floated down the River Vah, sorb only 23 per cent, despite the fact that Slovak Bratislava (Pressburg) on the Danube is the leading port of the whole country and the republic's fourth largest city.

"A center of the rich South Slovakia plain since the days of ancient Roman occupation, Bratislava was the scene in 907 A. D. of the battle by which Hungary won Slovakia. It is the little New York City of the province, focus of most of Slovakia's commerce and that as well of the southern parts of adjoining provinces, largely because of its important location on the Danube."

"One activity for which Bratislava is not headquarters is the resort 'trade' of Slovakia. Vacationists seek the cool heights of the High Tatras as more convenient than and as beautiful as the Alps. Special attractions are the Demanova Caverns and the ice caves at Dobšina, where year-round ice forms upside-down icicles. One of the chief spas of Slovakia is Piestany, where evaporated mud is prepared in cubes and poultices for export. At Koscice, venerable old city which is the commercial center of the eastern part of the province, is a spa with a geyser of carbonated water. At Komarno on the Danube, there are Skoda ship yards. Mining in Slovakia yields copper and lead, gold from ancient mines, and naphtha."

Texas is inhabited by about 550 species of birds.

HELP
15 MILES OF
KIDNEY TUBES

To Flush out Acids and Other
Poisonous Waste
Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 2 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the beginning of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Legion Auxiliary Plans Party Series

Plans for a series of novel breakfast parties were discussed by members of the American Legion Auxiliary at their regular meeting last evening in the Legion hall. According to the plan agreed upon, the breakfast hostesses may issue impromptu invitations, and those invited will be expected to come just as they are, without "dressing up."

Mention was also made of sponsoring a rummage sale, and reports of committee chairmen were heard. A sum of $30 was set aside for the treasury fund, to be used by the state organization to purchase gifts for service men in hospitals, and $12 was appropriated for child welfare.

The unit hopes to have attained 100 per cent in its membership goal by Nov. 11, the quota being 158 members. Dues may be left with Mrs. Louise Enichen.

FAMILY GATHERING

With the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Huggins of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. George Huggins of Kewanee, and Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Huggins of Aurora for a week end visit with California and Dixon relatives here, the family group will assume proportions of a reunion gathering. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Huggins of Los Angeles, Charles Huggins of Hollywood, and Mrs. Cora Tippet of Fresno have been entertained at a series of informal parties since their recent arrival from the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clayton were entertaining for the Californians today, and a picnic is being planned for the entire group on Sunday.

ANNIVERSARY SURPRISE

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rynearson, who were celebrating their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, were entertaining unexpected guests Monday evening, when members of the Church of God met at the couple's home for an informal observance of the occasion. Bouquets of yellow dahlias, chrysanthemums, and marigolds were a bright note throughout the rooms, and the group's gift to the couple was a gold plate.

Refreshments of ice cream molded in the form of golden wedding bells, and gold-trimmed cake, were served at the close of the evening.

LEAVING FOR WEST

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bondi of 621 Galena avenue will be putting Dixon behind them this evening to head westward for California, where they plan to remain for the winter and perhaps make their future home. The couple, who have been well-liked residents of Dixon and vicinity for a number of years, will be stopping in Long Beach, where their son and daughter, James, and Mrs. Jack Stokes, reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron McFall of Elgin, son-in-law and daughter, spent Sunday with the Bondis.

DOUBLE CELEBRATION

Anniversaries of father and son occurring on the same date was the incentive for a family birthday celebration last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Richards, 709 Highland avenue. Mr. Richards shared the compliment with his five-year-old son, Gilbert. Mrs. Ida Rizer, Gilbert's great-grandmother, was a special guest.

MONOPOLY PARTY

Miss Dorothy Hurst of 113 Dement avenue was entertaining at monopoly last evening for Polo and Dixon friends. The players included Miss Katherine Scholl and Ted Lord of Polo. Miss Bernice Risdon, Miss Hurst, Irwin Schaffer, and Stephen Fleming.

MINNESOTA VISITOR

Mrs. J. E. Biner, who has been spending the past three weeks with her sister, Mrs. J. H. Kennedy of 119 Dement avenue, left last evening for Morrison, her former home, for a brief stay with her brother, Dr. M. R. Nelson, before returning to her home in Little Falls, Minn.

Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel germy mucus.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

You Need Make No Bones About Serving Skull Cookies for Hallowe'en

Here's good fun and good eating for the Hallowe'en party—fruit-filled cookies that look like skulls and crossbones.

Cookies must be invited to every informal party. So let's toss up a batch for Hallowe'en and make them something to wonder at.

Skull and Crossbone Cookies
(About 2½ dozen)

Dough: 1 cup butter, 2 cups granulated sugar, 2 eggs, ½ cup thick cooked pumpkin, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, 6 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda, 2 teaspoons mace.

Filling: 1½ cups cooked prunes, 1 cup cubed orange, 1 cup liquid in which prunes were cooked, 1 cup chopped nut meats, 6 tablespoons butter, 6 tablespoons cornstarch, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons cinnamon.

Dough: Cream butter, add sugar and cream thoroughly. Add beaten eggs, pumpkin and flavoring and beat. Add flour sifted with salt, soda and spice and mix. Divide into pieces of convenient size to handle. Place on floured board, add sufficient flour to make

Mrs. White Leaves for State Meeting of Women Deans

Mrs. H. A. White will leave this evening for Mount Vernon to attend the nineteenth annual conference of the Illinois Association of Deans of Women, scheduled for tomorrow and Saturday. Mrs. White is dean of Dixon high school girls, and also a member of the association's executive committee.

Miss Harriett M. Allyn, dean at Mount Holyoke college and president of the National Association of Deans of Women, is to be the principal speaker for the dinner and luncheon meetings. "Social Adjustments as a Goal Through Individual Responsibility" is to be the central theme for the sessions, during which deans of high schools, colleges and universities will attempt to solve mutual problems.

The Saturday morning panel discussion will combine high school and college interests through the topic, "Developing Individual Responsibility Through School Activities."

CATHOLIC CLUB

A series of guessing games, in which prizes were awarded to the winners, entertained members of St. Patrick's Catholic Women's club last evening in St. Mary's parish hall. Routine reports were heard, and a number of committee appointments were announced during the business meeting, which preceded the social hour.

Mrs. David Gardner received a prize for guessing the identities of 11 women of the parish who appeared in masquerade attire. Mrs. John Blackburn and Mrs. Mary Riorden were also fortunate in the games.

Refreshments were served to 85 guests by a committee composed of mothers of eighth grade students, including Mrs. James Reynolds, Mrs. Ross Cooper, Mrs. LeRoy Harrington, Mrs. Goldie Richards, Mrs. John Wallin, and Mrs. H. M. Gernsman. The next meeting is scheduled for 7:30 P. M., Tuesday, Nov. 29.

WED IN ROCHELLE

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Valda File, daughter of Mrs. Emery Eymann of West Brooklyn, and Gerald Harms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harms of Rochelle, Saturday evening at the parsonage of the Rochelle Lutheran church. The Rev. O. H. Linemeyer officiated.

Miss Helen Harms, the bridegroom's sister, and Gaylen Petry attended the couple. Both the bride and Miss Harms wore teal blue with dubonnet accessories.

A wedding supper was served at the home of the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Grace Harms, at Kings. The couple are residing on a farm near Kings.

LANE-VANCE

Miss Muriel Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lane of Malta, and Clarence Vance, son of Mrs. Ethel Vance of Rochelle, were married Saturday at the home of the brides' parents. The Rev. Paul Dibble, pastor of the Rochelle Methodist church, heard the vows, read before an altar of flowers and ferns.

The couple was attended by the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Adron Lane, and the bridegroom's brother, Raymond Vance.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance are residing in Rockford, where the bridegroom is employed.

PRAIRIEVILLE CIRCLE

Quilt blocks provided needlework for members of the Prairieville Social circle yesterday at the church. A scramble luncheon was served at noon, with ten members attending.

On Nov. 9, the women will return to the church to knot a comforter.

CHORUS REHEARSAL

Members of the Dixon Woman's club chorus will begin their second season on Saturday, when they are to meet for rehearsal at 1:15 o'clock at St. Paul's Lutheran church. All club members who like to sing are invited to attend the meeting, which is to be held in the Sunday school room.

EVENING MEETING

Members of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters will meet at 7:30 o'clock this evening at the Knights of Columbus Home.

WIENER ROAST

Members of the Loyol Links Sunday school class of the Brethren church were roasting wieners and marshmallows around a blazing camp fire Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claire Baker and son, Gene, three miles south of Dixon.

In a brief business meeting conducted by the vice president, Evelyn Killian, who presided in the absence of the president, Wilmer Gerdes, the following officers were elected: Teacher, William E. Thompson; president, Gene Baker; secretary, Forest Kinsey; secretary-treasurer, Galen Myers. It was decided to purchase new offering plates to match the new pews.

Prosperity Indicators Are Nudged Upwards

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Strengthened federal indices for employment and industrial production nudged upward today the prosperity indicators of two government agencies.

Secretary Perkins said September figures showed re-employment of 640,000 workers in non-agricultural occupations since June. About 440,000 returned to work since the labor department's August survey.

The federal reserve board announced its index of industrial production had risen from 76 in May to 90 in September, including a gain of two points over the August figure.

The index is based on 1923-25 as 100, and last night's report put it at the highest point since October, 1937.

Most of the September gain reported by the labor department was in manufacturing, although retail and wholesale stores, railroads and mines also noted increases.

Miss Esther Barton Is Guest Speaker at S. C. P. T. A.

Miss Esther Barton, principal of the Lincoln school, addressed 136 members and guests of the South Central Parent-Teacher association yesterday afternoon, at the association's opening meeting of the year. Mrs. Lloyd W. Walter, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, who chose as her topic, "The Children of Mexico."

Miss Barton returned to Dixon recently from a summer's study at Guadalajara, Mexico, where she obtained valuable first-hand information regarding conditions there. She was particularly impressed, she said, with the unparalleled rapidity with which Mexico City has become modernized, and the astounding presence of vast numbers of Americans on the streets of that city, in contrast to Guadalajara, which sees few tourists. "It is gratifying," she remarked, "to know that Mexico now has compulsory education up to the age of 12."

The work of the Community Institute of Mexico, a new educational movement, was reviewed by Miss Barton. These groups travel about the country teaching household sciences and habits of living, wherever their services are needed, and are a progressive step toward national betterment.

"Everywhere," the speaker stated, "one sees signs of the modern age advancing into Old Mexico—in the types of buildings being constructed, the style of clothing, and the customs of the people. There is an extensive building program under way throughout the country, and Mexico's citizens, like the citizens of the United States, are wondering concerning the wherewithal of funds for these structures. Recreation parks have been developed from lands formerly occupied by the aristocracy, and there is an abundance of swimming pools, baseball and basketball fields."

Miss Barton also told her listeners that control of orphanages, hospitals and other similar institutions have passed from the church into the hands of the state. There are no parochial schools left in all Mexico, she discovered.

Mrs. Robert Shaw, president of the organization, was in charge of the business meeting. The social hour which followed centered about the tea table, seasonably decorated with Hallowe'en colors and lighted by tall orange tapers. Mrs. R. L. Matthews, hospitality chairman, and her assistants, Mrs. Albert Hanneken, Mrs. Philip Hopkins and Mrs. J. G. Alexander presided at the tea table, with Mrs. Hopkins and Mrs. Alexander pouring.

The afternoon's program opened with group singing, directed by Mrs. Wilson Dysart, art chairman, with Miss Margaret Ballou at the piano, followed by the report of the secretary, Mrs. Earl Slagle, the report of the treasurer, Miss Lillian Schick, and introduction of the new principal, Floyd W. Lynch, who spoke briefly. Others introduced included Mrs. Walter, program chairman; Mrs. James Angell, membership chairman; Mrs. Ben Billinger, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Kenneth Church, school nurse, who discussed the Dental Health Institute to be held in Dixon in the near future.

Superintendent and Mrs. A. H. Lancaster were special guests. Mr. Lancaster brought a brief greeting to the members and visitors. Mrs. Bernice Moser's third grade room won attendance honors for the afternoon.

Grand Detour Artist Will Open Month's Exhibition at Davenport

Early next month, an interesting new show will be hung in the Davenport Municipal Art Gallery, which art patrons will be eager to inspect. Holger Jensen, who has spent the past ten summers at Grand Detour and whose excellent landscape and street studies have attracted much attention in the past, will be exhibiting a group of 50 pictures in a one-man show beginning on Thursday evening, Nov. 3. Opening concurrently with Mr. Jensen's exhibit will be the Eleventh Quad-City Exhibition.

For those familiar with the beautiful Rock river valley, the show will have particular interest, as many of the paintings emphasize the colorful scenes for which the valley has become famous, and which Mr. Jensen has infused with an artist's feeling of delight at what he beholds.

There will be 28 oil paintings in the Jensen show, including a snow scene, "Along the Rock River," conveying the artist's impression of the ice-bound loop at Grand Detour last winter; "Up the Main Street," a study of Dixon's own Galena avenue, exhibited previously at the Art Institute in Chicago; "The Night Frowlers," a New Orleans street scene, depicting the historic city's French quarter; "The Tennessee Homestead," one of several canvases showing the great Smoky mountains in North Carolina and Tennessee; and "In Gloucester Town," which won the gold medal award of the Chicago Palette and Chisel club in 1934. The collection will also include 22 water colors, small though very complete motifs which the artist brings back from his travels about the country.

Mr. Jensen is an active member of the Illinois Art society, Chicago Painters and Sculptors, Palette and Chisel club, the Oak Park Art League, Allied Painters, and his name has appeared in "Who's Who." He won the Oak Park League's silver medal of 1927, and has been awarded several prizes at Chicago galleries. Schools in Chicago, Gary, Oak Park, and River Forest, Dixon high school, and several Iowa schools own one or more of his paintings.

The exhibit will be open every day except on Mondays, and a tea is being planned for Friday, Nov. 4, which probably will be open to the public. Mr. Jensen travels extensively during the winter, and gallery visitors will not the versatility the artist has worked into his paintings. He hopes to spend the coming winter in Mexico.

TAX COLLECTOR HATREDS MAY CUT EXPENDITURES

The United States government is a great institution, and it does things which no other government in all history ever did before. As for instance: during the fiscal year 1938 it collected in internal revenue taxes approximately $5,659,000,000—the largest sum which any government ever collected in any 12-month period.

After a figure gets about so high it ceases to have any meaning. Perhaps we can better understand it by realizing that this amounts to just about a quarter of the entire world's stock of monetary gold—all of the metal that has been mined since the discovery of America, the product of Inca mines and California and Alaska gold booms, of Australian rushes and South African bonanzas. Four centuries of gold-hunting would pay for just four years like this last one. And with all of that, our government still operates at a deficit!

Nor is the end in sight. Relief and public works are still with us, to say nothing of agricultural surpluses and the army and navy. We are about to launch a new preparedness program and double the size of our air force. No, we can hardly hope that this particular kind of record-breaking finance is going to end in the immediate future.

But perhaps it will be worth all it costs if it compels us to re-examine the whole question of the relationship between government and citizen. For the world today seems to be sweeping along a road which leads to greater and greater subordination of the individual to the state. In some lands that subordination is complete; man exists for the state, he may read and speak and act and even think only as the state directs, and his life and property are in every detail at the disposal of the state.

We have not reached or even approached that point in this country. Given halfway decent luck and the exercise of ordinary intelligence, we need not approach it. Yet this colossal tax collection may help us to understand that the tendency to approach it does exist, that the trend in human affairs is running that way.

The remedy, unfortunately, is not simple. It is easy to say, "Cut down the cost of government," but very hard to suit action to the words. And in the long run we can protect ourselves against this trend only by remembering constantly the oldest truth of American democracy—that government exists to serve the citizen, and that as a general thing it serves him best by leaving him alone.

There may be emergencies in which it can't leave him alone; times when it must spend huge sums to give him service or protection that he can't get for himself. Then costs go up and taxes mount. But we can keep government from developing, through these emergency activities, into a colossus that is our master rather than our servant. And our natural antipathy to the tax-collector ought to help us keep that in mind.

RE-ARMAMENT POSSIBLE BY DEMOCRATIC MEANS

An ominous murmur is beginning to be heard in the land in connection with the new re-armament program.

This program, it is explained, will be terribly expensive. Further, it will have to be rushed. In re-arming we shall be competing, more or less indirectly, with the great totalitarian nations, and because we are a free country we shall be at a great disadvantage in the competition.

Therefore, it is argued, we might as well face the fact that in order to re-arm we shall have to surrender some of our cherished liberties. Neither labor nor capital can expect ordinary treatment; national security is at stake, and we shall have to countenance all sorts of interference with profit levels, wage scales and the like.

It would be a fine thing if, before this sort of talk spread any farther, the people as a whole would get up on their collective hind legs and shout it down once and for all.

At first blush it sounds reasonable enough, to be sure. The totalitarian states can re-arm cheaply—comparatively cheaply, anyway. They can conscript labor and commandeer factories and raw materials. They can tell working men to toil longer hours at reduced wages and make them like it. They can set whatever prices they choose for materials and can ration the supplies as they choose. They can force industrialists to produce at any profit level the bureaucracy may decide on. For the duration of the rearmament drive they can suspend any or all of the ordinary laws of economics.

A land which can do none of those things will have a hard time matching, ship for ship, gun for gun, plane for plane with these dictator-ruled nations. It will pay much more for what it gets and it will take longer to get it. And so we meet this new argument—that until we have re-armed sufficiently we ought to borrow a few ideas from the people we are re-arming against.

Now it happens that one of the principal things we are re-arming for is the defense of the American way of life. It is not merely our commercial interests which seem to be threatened; it is the whole system of a free society, the whole network of ideals and beliefs and privileges under which, as we believe, human beings have the best possible chance to gain a little ground in their never-ending pursuit of happiness.

And it also happens that these "handicaps" which make our re-armament slow and costly are fundamental parts of that system. Give them up, and the system itself is no longer recognizable. Freedom of capital and labor are as vital in the American way of life as freedom of speech and freedom of religion.

So if we suspend or infringe on them in order to compete with the Fascists, we lose the battle before it begins. Whatever happens after that, we don't win. We give Fascism its greatest victory right at the start.

It is of the highest importance that we get straight—that point right now. We can pay any price for re-armament—except that price.

OLD SOLDIER STUFF

The American Legion adds much that is pleasant to the contemporary scene. The greatest value of the organization comes from the less widely advertised activity that it contributes to the life of the communities where it is established.

Such an incident is reported from Marengo, Iowa, where the Walter A. Wandling Post has voted an honorary membership to Frank Hinkelman, who is ineligible for ordinary membership because he served with the German army during the war. Hinkelman aided the Legion when the members built new quarters there. He shared their joys and frequently is more optimistic than practical, but there are a few hopeful straws behind her optimism regarding CIO-AFL peace.

1st, public response to the harmony talk has been extremely favorable, which is having a telling effect on the rival labor camps.

2nd, Miss Perkins has the help of two extremely able union leaders—David Dubinsky, of the International Ladies' Garment Workers and Daniel Tobin, head of the Teamsters, also an intimate pal of Jim Farley. Dubinsky and Tobin long have been peace advocates.

As a member of the AFL Executive Council, Tobin tried to prevent a split at the time the CIO was expelled. Dubinsky's union, although affiliated with the CIO, has not been kicked out by the AFL. He has been working hard behind the scenes for rapprochement.

3rd, despite bickering epithets, inside fact is that most AFL-CIO leaders want peace. A few irreconcilable die-hards (Matthew Woll of the photo-engravers, Arthur Warton of the machinists, William Hutchinson of the carpenters) still want a fight to the finish, but the great majority are anxious to make up.

Although both organizations deny it, actually they are in a bad way financially and continued warfare will bust them.

Another peace factor is that every move made by Miss Perkins so far has been guided by Tobin and Dubinsky. She has conferred with them secretly several times and is in constant touch by telephone. This is important, because without advice, well-intentioned Miss Perkins has a penchant for jumping the rails at crucial moments.

Present Tobin-Dubinsky-Perkins strategy is to continue building up public peace sentiment, while quietly preparing the ground for a peace conference by winning individual leaders over to the plan. When a sufficient bloc has been lined up, a public invitation will be issued to the AFL and CIO—possibly by Roosevelt himself—to sit down together and talk peace.

Self-Purges

Comment of a White House intimate upon reading a press interview in which Senator Burton K. Wheeler, anti-New Deal leader, declared he "probably would not run for re-election in 1940":

"Ah, a self-purges. How nice."

Sex vs. Bible

Morris Ernst, fortright New York attorney who headed Mayor Hague last summer, recently wrote a letter to the president in which he said:

"Under separate cover I am sending you one Bible. Should you send this to a spiritually needy friend on the Pacific coast, the postage would cost you 56 cents."

"I am also sending you three sex booklets weighing exactly the same amount. Should you send these to a friend on the Pacific coast, the postage would cost you 7 cents."

Ernst was illustrating the discrimination of postage rates against books, as compared to magazines, pamphlets and newspapers. He has been waging a long campaign to persuade the Post Office to lower rates on books, and it looks as if he would succeed. The president is expected shortly to issue an executive order to that effect.

Note—in his letter to Roosevelt, Ernst added: "P. S.: Unless you send word to your outer office, you may not get one-half your presents."

U. S.-British Partnership?
Meeting a state department friend, John L. Lewis remarked: "Considering Winston Churchill's speech and the proposed visit of the King and Queen of England, it is possible that we are being caajoled into accepting a Class B membership in the British Empire?"

New Name
CIO master minds are seeking a new name for their organization.

They aren't offering any prizes but they are eager for suggestions. The new name is for the permanent organization to be set up formally at the national convention meeting in Pittsburgh November 14.

There is one requirement for the new title. The initials must be "C. I. O.", which now stand for

"Committee for Industrial Organization"

Already suggested as substitutes are "Confederation of Industrial Organizations" and "Congress of Industrial Organizations." "Confederation" has been ruled out because it sounds too much like the Civil War.

JOURNALISM PRIZE

Plans for a new national journalism prize were laid before Roosevelt recently by John and Gardner Cowles, Jr., young publishers of The Des Moines Register-Tribune and the picture magazine Look.

They propose an annual award to the newspaper distinguished for the "fairest and most impartial" handling of news. There is no Pulitzer prize for this.

When the Cowles brothers discussed this with the President, at a recent White House luncheon, he was very enthusiastic and made several suggestions on how the contest should be judged.

The Cowles brothers explained that their idea was prompted by the desire to demonstrate that most newspapers are fair in their treatment of the news. They admitted that Roosevelt's criticism of certain papers was just, but tactfully suggested that the next time he took a whack at the press he use a rifle instead of a shotgun.

Roosevelt laughingly replied he would try to keep that in mind.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Senator George Norris has written former friends in Oregon strongly endorsing Henry Hess, young New Deal Democratic candidate for Governor. Norris may also make a radio speech for him. . . . Professor James Harvey Rogers of Yale, who helped hatch Al Smith's "baloney dollar" (dollar devaluation), has published a book "Capitalism in Crisis", in which he warns that Hitler's triumph at the Munich conference has locked the economic systems of the democracies and dictatorships in a life-and-death struggle.

BUCHANAN DAM PROBE

Nothing has been said about it publicly, but scrappy Secretary Harold Ickes has called upon the Justice Department, Federal Power Commission and Securities and Exchange Commission to protect PWA's $15,000,000 investment in the Buchanan Dam, on the Colorado River, from utility machinations which threaten at the next session of the Texas Legislature.

The private power interests, headed by John W. Carpenter, president of Texas Power and Light, also a leader of the lobby against the Holding Company Act, are waging a vigorous campaign to prevent power production at the dam. The utilities were behind the legislative investigation following the flood last spring that caused extensive damage along the lower Colorado River.

The utilities said the flood was caused by the operation of the Dam as a power producer, now are out to amend the original act so as to confine the project solely to flood control.

PWA experts deny that the power features of the Dam had anything to do with the flood, contend that the Dam actually prevented the damage from being greater than it was. They charge that the real purpose of the utilities is to scuttle the Dam as a public power rival.

Ickes has brought the three government agencies into the fight for two reasons: First, to protect the Government's $15,000,000 investment in the project; second, to investigate the tactics of the utilities with a view to instituting proceedings. Confidential reports have been received alleging illegal activities.

Regarding point one, the PWA is to be repaid its loan through the sale of power to municipalities. If the legislature should now ban power production, PWA would be left holding the bag. Ickes has no intention of swallowing such a deal, so is siccing the toughest branches of the Government on to the utilities.

"If they are looking for trouble, he told Attorney General Cummings, 'I'm for giving them a bellyful. Isn't that right, Homer?'"

"That's the general idea," Cummings rejoined.

Likely to be assigned to the case is Welly K. Hopkins, head of the Trial Section of the Department's Criminal Division. Besides being the Department's ace trial lawyer, Hopkins, as a member of the Texas Legislature, authored the bill that created the Dam Authority.

Note—Despite a lavish campaign by the power interests to turn public sentiment against the Dam as a power project, fourteen out of sixteen municipalities recently voted to contract for electricity from the Dam.

DON'T MARRY THE MAN

By Jeanne Bowman

The Characters
Kathleen Gregory goes West incognito to secure a right-of-way for The Golden Girl mine from MacDonald.

Donald MacDonald hates the Gregorys, suspects Kathleen's identity.
Bridget: Kathleen's companion.

Yesterday: Kathleen realizes she is in love with Donald, and that he loves Bridget.

Chapter 25

The "Love To You Both"
The days on the calendar marched along, each one bringing the closing of The Golden Girl nearer. And Kathleen could get nowhere with MacDonald when it came to discussing the mine. In desperation she went to Balmly. "It's like watching something die and not being able to do anything," she told him, and sought to convey her feeling that the mine was an entity, a great being with drifts for arteries, the life of the miners pulsing through to the golden heart of it.

"Don't worry, lass," he advised. "There will be an hour when that last stone barrier between the two mines will melt away. It won't be hacked away by hate, it will be melted by love, not the love of a man for a maid, but a greater, impersonal love, the love of filling lands and fluted leaves."

Spring came overnight, an early spring that closed the short winter with the swift breath of a chinook wind.

As though a blanket had been lifted, the painted mountains sprang up in radiant crimson, purple, green and white.

Along the canyons, willows and cottonwoods waved branches blood red with new life, promise of filling lands and fluted leaves.

On Balmly's terrace, tiny crocus and freesias scented the air; a pear tree in the garden burst into pale blossom. And the old shepherd dragged himself out from behind the stove to the sun, then frisked about like a puppy.

Then came an evening in April when the scented spring and the new moon seemed a desecration to Kathleen. She had taken grandmother MacGregor into Car-stated for the final fitting of new teeth, a birthday gift from Beatrice Gregory.

Hands aching from their first long stretch of grasping a wheel, she pulled the cart and walked slowly towards the house.

Bridget was a white shadow on the veranda. She met Kathleen on the steps and it seemed to Kathleen that her friend was like a burning ember, glowing with some shining, spirit substance.

"Darling . . . would you . . . could you find someone else to come and live with you?" Kathleen stifled for what she felt was coming. "No one like you, Bridget, but . . . of course, why?"

"Well," Bridget laughed and her voice was like the chime of tiny bells. "I'm about to become Mrs. MacDonald. I thought I'd wait . . . that is, I did. I wanted to, well you know until you finished your quest. But now I think maybe I can help. Oh darling, I'm so happy I could burst and to think I didn't want to come out here with you, Kathleen, do you think a shanty Irish gal can live up to the title of Mrs. MacDonald?"

Kathleen listened to Bridget's incoherent talk, only half hearing. She was thinking, "I must get away. I must go at once. I can't stand it any longer."

"The boys have gone to Carsted for proper celebration knick-knacks, and to wire Los Angeles, they'll be back in an hour, didn't you pass them on the way? I'm going over to set the table, come over as soon as you rest, won't you?"

Bridget hurried away. Kathleen went to her room, stopped to pet Circe who was curled on the studio couch, and then went to the wide table. She could just grasp the pen, her writing was barely legible. She couldn't say much.

My work is done here, dear. I wish you every joy. Congratulations Donald for me. You are the two dearest friends I have, you should be wonderfully happy together.

I've done all I could do about the mine. Maybe, when he is your husband you can make him understand it isn't the Gregorys wanting gold, but the hundreds of people working for the Gregorys wanting their livelihood.

I don't want to spoil your celebration. I haven't been feeling well, maybe I'm homesick. I'll charter a plane in Carsted—my love to you both.

Swiftly then she packed a bag and hurried from the house. She had to put that ugly structure behind her; to get out of this divided town.

She would hire a car in Neutrality, Bridget might need the other.

Tears blinding her eyes, she stumbled down the trail. There was a light in Balmly's cottage. She should stop and tell him goodbye. No, she'd return later, return as Kathleen Gregory.

A hand reached for her bag. "There, lass, come in."

Balmly had been standing on the trail, his white head held in a listening attitude. "There's something 'fev in the wind," he told her. "Come back to the terrace and tell me."

He seemed talking of two different things. Obeyingly Kathleen followed and once there she burst out. "I'm going home, Balmly. You see, they don't need me anymore. Bridget is going to marry Donald, she just told me. She was father's secretary, she understands all about the mine, she'll manage the right-of-way somehow."

"Aye," agreed Balmly in a half-comprehending, half-puzzled tone. The light from his window revealed the heartbreak visible on the young face before him. Quickly he diverted her thoughts. "And now, lass, that you've seen fit to tell me you're The Golden Girl, you'd like to hear about the feud."

Kathleen looked up. She hadn't actually admitted it. She didn't care about the feud. She only wanted to get away; to get away from Donald. But Balmly was talking.

"Do you know my dear, that one of your forebears was one of the first white men to come to this continent? Before the time of the English and the French, soon after Columbus returned to Spain, a party of Spanish grandees with adventure in their blood, and inspired by the tales of gold to be found in the new world, sailed for the Americas.

The Counting Shift
Prompted by the Gulf coast Indians, they came inland. Only one man was seen again and he told of the wealth they had cached in the painted hills.

"Generations afterwards, one of his line, finding his wealth in Spain dissipated, decided to search for that wealth. He came across the plains with a daughter. When he reached the frontier settlement we call Carsted, he was old and ill and penniless. His daughter, this Castilian gentlewoman, worked at anything she could find to do, to care for him.

"Soon after their arrival, two young prospectors came to the settlement from Scotland. MacDonald and MacGregor. Women were scarce and not of the kind to inspire men like these Scots to thoughts of matrimony. They both wanted this girl."

"MacDonald thought he had the inner road for he was unmarried. MacGregor's young wife had died before he left Scotland and he had left children there. He thought he had the inner road, for what woman could refuse to mother the motherless?"

"The girl listened to both and considered neither. They were penniless prospectors. She wanted someone to care for her father. At last she laughingly bargained. She said she would marry the first man who would prove he had struck gold."

Balmly paused to light his pipe and Kathleen relaxed. She had been living in another world for the moment.

"You know the history of the strike," Balmly continued. "How MacDonald and MacGregor lived in the cabin they had built the previous fall; how they started out on the same day and struck gold on opposite sides of the ridge at about the same hour."

"MacGregor had the best of it by moments. He came up over the hill on a run. They had one dress shirt between them. He was going into the settlement to file claim and to claim his Emelina. He must wear the shirt."

"He'd washed, trimmed his beard and had one arm in the shirt when MacDonald appeared. Before that time they had taken turns at wearing the court-ship shirt. Now they fought for it, a bitter fight that rent the shirt, and each wearing his half of the bloody garment, they started for the settlement."

Kathleen's eyes were immense pools of interest. "And my grandmother MacGregor never forgave him. But Balmly, why didn't Old Angus forgive MacDonald, why did he feel such bitter hatred towards the man he'd bested?"

Balmly stirred restlessly. He walked to the edge of the terrace and stood listening. Kathleen waited. She could hear nothing but night murmurs: wind in the trees and the thrum of cicadees. "There's nae happiness in a war won by bloodshed, nor by a hard bargain. Donna Emelina was an obedient wife. She kept her word to the letter, but she had no love for Angus. And Angus, frustrated, believed she loved MacDonald."

Kathleen believed she knew how her grandfather must have suffered. She wondered, vaguely, if she was suffering for her grandfather's hard-turned bargain. If Old Donald MacDonald in that fourth dimensional world was directing the fancy of his grandson, his enemy's granddaughter was paying.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

A fascinating pastime with Albert Edward Wiggam, S. Sc., Author of "THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND."

"The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea." (Bagehot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No. One way of answering this is simply to point to the obvious fact that people who have plenty of money are far from being always happy while many poor people seem very happy. Another and better way is to take people in the same environment, with the same general income and surroundings and give them an actual happiness test. A number of such tests have been devised by psychologists and they find that persons in the same family or in the same office where all receive the same salary vary all up and down the scale of happiness. Plainly, then, happiness depends very little on money, especially after a person has enough for food, clothing and shelter.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Women hating, as well as cherishing some love disappointment, are both signs of a deep seated lack of adjustment, not especially to women but to life itself. Chronic male hypochondria and men afflicted with lack of emotional control often take the woman hating way of showing it. Any one who announces himself as hating women or "distrusting all women" or who is suspicious of women is mentally ill and needs a doctor or psychologist to find just what form of egotism he has. Since all forms of mental maladjustment are to some extent due to heredity, it follows that women haters are partly born as well as made.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. The original nature of man does not change very much but what amounts to about the same thing, his knowledge, skills, habits, philosophy of life, etc., do change. Chinamen, Japs, Jews, Germans and Englishmen are all about alike in their original natures but we see what different worlds they have created to live in. So, without changing the nature of human nature, we could make the world infinitely better than it is.

TO DISCUSS PLAN.

H. R. Lissack, superintendent of Rochelle's elementary public schools, Dr. A. R. Bogue, president of school board No. 131, a visiting teacher and a prominent citizen will broadcast from radio station WLS in Chicago on Thursday evening, November 3, 1938, developing the plan, financing and detail incident to the completion of Rochelle's new $180,000 Central school. With the numerous school buildings under construction the subject is of considerable interest to the public and broadcast has the approval of PWA and state school authorities.

DEDICATION DATE.

A tentative date for the dedication of the new Central school has been set for Friday evening, December 16th. The new auditorium was given a coat of sealasol and will be in readiness when a certain has been made. It is hoped to procure furniture and furnishings for the teacher's room to the right of the Fifth Avenue entrance so that the room can be used as a consultation room for parents and teachers soon as finances will permit. A large American flag is also needed for the auditorium.

The Camp Fire Girls and guard held a meeting at the new Central school Tuesday evening. The school board also met for routine business and adoption of resolutions accepting the new building.

TO ATTEND GROUP.

Among those from DL Chapter PEO who plan to attend the Illinois Reciprocity Group 1, of the P. O. Sisterhood one o'clock luncheon on Saturday at the Faust hotel in Rockford are: Mesdames C. A. Anderson, H. J. Phelps, Ralph Cleveland, C. C. Ellis and C. E. Motlong. Guests are expected from Dixon, Amboy, Freeport, Geneseo, Czechoslovakia, Polo, Rochelle, Rock Falls, Rockford, Savanna and Sterling.

The program is to include talks by the state president, Mrs. Myranda Anderson of Canton and Mrs. Louise Moore of Cheney college, a P. E. O. project. Mrs. Harrison Trautman of Chapter CJ, Rockford, the hostess chapter.

SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION.

Officers and committee heads of the local American Legion Auxiliary unit attended a school of instruction at Amboy, Monday.

ATTENDED MUSICAL.

Miss Leona Ringering, Mrs. Margaret Scriven of Dixon, and Vincent Carney were among those from this vicinity attended a musicale in Chicago, Tuesday evening.

MADE THE LINE.

Fred E. Lux, editor of the Rochelle News, broke into print with a contribution to "Voice of the People" appearing in the Sunday edition of the Chicago Tribune. Mr. Lux's article, headed: "A Good Bill Collector," was as follows:

About twenty years ago while seated around a "peace" table at Versailles the victors agreed to make a new republic by carving Czechoslovakia out of German, Austrian and Hungarian territory. Now Hitler says, turn back what you stole or pay for it through the United States.

Through the United States $200,000,000. We still believe Hitler should be handed Uncle Sam's bills against the allies which participated in the carving process. He might get some action.

AT SPRINGFIELD MEET.

Miss Leona Ringering, Mrs. Margaret Scriven, librarian at Dixon, and Miss Leola Cobb motored to Springfield Wednesday morning to attend the three-day session of the Illinois State Library association meeting in the Abraham Lincoln hotel.

PUBLICIZE HIGHWAY.

The road committee of the Rochelle Chamber of Commerce of which Finance Commissioner John D. Sweeney is chairman and consisting of W. F. Eber, Joseph A. Emmet, P. Hayes, John P. Manning and Thomas O'Neill, which did such fine work in keeping Route U. S. 330 in Rochelle is still going at full speed. Mr. Sweeney is vice chairman and Mr. Eber is treasurer of the Illinois Highway association which several weeks ago signed a $1200 contract with the Fox Valley Advertising company to publicize the Lincoln highway. The work of putting up signs has started and is to be finished this fall.

MANY NEW HOMES.

Twenty-one new homes have been built or are now under construction in Rochelle, setting a nation-wide record for home construction on a basis of population.

Rochelle's population according to the last government census is 3,880. Ten applications for federal loans are now awaiting approval. Construction on these ten homes will probably be started within the next sixty days, making a grand total of 31 new homes for Rochelle this year.

Building supply men and contractors report that they have a number of people planning to build but who have not signed contracts or applied for loans as yet.

Rochelle has suffered for years from a serious shortage and the present building boom will aid this condition materially. There is still room for over one hundred new homes according to local real estate men who have been besieged by people wanting to rent apartments and houses.

Under the present Federal Housing Act it is possible for those who would like to own their own homes to build to suit their needs and pay for their homes like rent over a period of 25 years. A house large enough for the average family can be purchased for as little as $5,000 down and $30 a month. Your local material dealer or contractor can give you further details and information is also available through the Rochelle Chamber of Commerce who have a very active housing committee and have complete information on all details of home construction.

Following is a list of the twenty-two homes under construction in Rochelle, the owner, location and progress made to date:

Howard Heltness, South Main street, completed.

Dan Heltness, North Tenth street, completed.

William J. Bradbury, South Third street, completed.

Eugene Cahill, South Third street, completed.

Clarence Palmer, South Second street, completed.

Elmer Guis, North Eighth street, nearly completed.

Henry Lind, North Eighth st., framed in, plumbing and heating roughed in.

W. J. Wollacott, North Eighth street, finishing now.

Joe Jacobson, North Ninth street, completed.

John W. Tilton, Lincoln Avenue, finishing.

H. A. Lux, North Tenth street, completed.

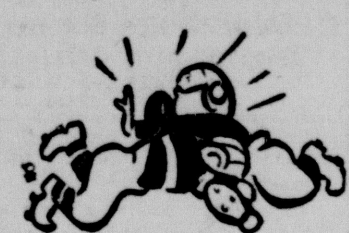

Carl Marxman, North Lincoln Highway, roof on.

Steve W. Dee, North Lincoln Highway, basement in.

Michael J. Hayes, North Twelfth street, basement in.

FANFARE—

By DON DANIELSON

A victory over DeKalb on Saturday would mean a great deal to the Lindellmen, for then they are assured of at least a tie for first place in the North Central conference.

Games in the neighborhood tomorrow include Polo at Morrison tomorrow night and Rochelle at Amboy in the afternoon.

In his seventh season at Minnesota Bernie Bierman has a percentage of .875 with 42 victories, six losses and 4 ties. The Gophers meet Northwestern at Evanston Saturday in a clash which is drawing much local attention. 'Tis said Bierman's teams have never won a Minnesota game at Dyche stadium. Take heart, Wildcat fans, take heart.

Coach Foster Keagle of Princeton high school was giving his high school football team instruction in forward pass catching. Striking down the field to nab a pass, the grid tutor lost his balance. Members of the team carried him off the field. He suffered a broken leg.

That basketball is looming larger and larger on the sports horizon is more evident each day with teams about the country grooming in last minute rehearsals for tilts early next month. Over at Dixon high school the fellows who aren't out for football have been doing a little dribbling and practice shooting in preparation for the local season. The fellows are "going out for basketball"—that's a sign of the days getting shorter and winter coming on.

Meeting of the Dixon baseball club will be held tomorrow night at which time each player is asked to turn in his uniform. This will be a wind-up party for the members of the team to be held up the river at one of the business men's cottages. Players may get complete details by calling Bert Cummings.

A Marquette university football team will enjoy its first open date in modern hilltop history on Saturday, Nov. 5, when the books show no game for the Blue and Gold. Coach Paddy Driscoll's eleven will face a potent Michigan State team on Nov. 12. As things look now the Lindell players of Dixon will also rest up on that date while local interest centers on the Amboy game with Oregon on the Ogilvie county grid.

The Dixon baseball team played 23 games this season and won 17 and lost only 6. This means a percentage of .727 for the Cummings club. Nice going.

Button, button—who's got the papers? Last night Coach Lindell looked high and low for his predictions for the big games on Saturday as he appears as the fifth guest pickster of the season. The coach had to give up and turn to his men on the field, but Athletic Director Bowers came to the rescue and found the misplaced papers. The local coach had a little trouble on the Notre Dame-Army and Northwestern-Minnesota games and what he finally decided will be revealed on this page tomorrow night.

GRIDIRON FRENZY REACHES HEIGHTS DURING WEEK END

Pittsburgh Game is Most Important on National Standpoint

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The great autumn madness reaches new heights Saturday when Pittsburgh plays Fordham and Notre Dame invades the east to play Army in two of the season's most important games.

The rest of the schedule shows enough class and color to make it a banner day, but these two meetings steal the show. Some 75,000 were expected to pack the Panther stadium and about the same number will jam Yankee Stadium to watch the Irish and the Cadets.

The game at Pittsburgh is the more important from a national standpoint. Out there they say Jock Sutherland's regime has produced its finest eleven in the present team. It is unbeaten, untied and unapproachable so far. Never has Sutherland's single wing offense been so potent as in the last four Saturday's with Marshall Goldberg, Dick Cassiano, Harold Stebbins and John Chickering operating between a fast, savagely blocking line.

Outside Chance
Fordham apparently has only an outside chance but to those who have watched the Maroon develop it has a very good one. Jim Crowley has brought his club along with this game in mind. His attack is functioning as no Fordham attack has run before, he has a great running back in the sophomore Len Eshmont, durable reserves and an experienced line.

The Rams are unbeaten, have been tied only by Purdue.

Army and Notre Dame may not have quite the class they have the color.

MICHIGAN, ILLINI TO MEET FOR 24th GAME SATURDAY

Zupke Encouraged by Spirit of Players This Week in Practice

Encouraged by the spirit which his players have shown in practice this week, Coach Bob Zupke will lead the Illinois football squad to Michigan where they will engage a strong Wolverine team in the 24th game of a gridiron rivalry dating back to 1898.

Zupke this week limited hard practice to "dummy" scrimmages and barring last-minute accidents it is expected that the Illini will take the field in excellent physical condition, keyed for a desperate struggle.

Cliff Peterson, big sophomore back from Moline, will be the spear-head of the Illinois offense. Peterson, moving into the left halfback position vacated by ill-fated Bob Wehrli, lost for the season by an injury in the Northwestern game, it is hoped will repeat the promising performance he gave in the second half against the Wildcats.

Loss of Mazeika
Loss of Tony Mazeika, another casualty in the Northwestern game, gives Merlyn (Bo) Burris, senior, from Catlin, his opportunity at right halfback. Burris, who had not played all season on account of injuries, caught Peterson's 30-yard pass from Zupke's "side-winder" combination of laterals behind the line, for the largest Illinois gain of the day.

Phil Pezoli, quarterback, and either George Rettinger, or Ralph Bennett at fullback, will complete the starting backfield combination. The second backfield will probably consist of Ralph Ehni, quarterback; Chuck Purvis, left halfback; Don Elting, right halfback, and either Rettinger or Bennett, fullback.

Jay Wardley, veteran, John Thistlewood, who returned to practice this week, and John Kanosky, are other backs who may see action.

Line Nearly the Same

Little hope is entertained that Mel Brewer, disabled guard, will play. Zupke considered moving him back to his old left guard position, but it is feared his injury will not permit him to play before the Ohio State game Nov. 12.

Other players likely to make the trip are: ends, Fourier and Govedare; tackles, Thomases, Cramer and Sikich; guards, Ingie, Yonaites and Hurley; quarterback, Valiquet.

To Leave Tomorrow
The Illini will depart Friday morning at 8 o'clock by special train, changing at 63rd street, Chicago, for the Ann Arbor train. Arriving at Ann Arbor at 3:45 p. m. they will work out in the Michigan stadium, then withdraw to Dearborn to camp until game time.

Michigan leads the all-time series with the Illini 15 to 8. The Wolverines won all five games played from 1898 to 1906, then were out of the Big Ten until 1917.

Since 1919, when they met their first Zupke-coached team, they have won 10 and lost eight to Illinois.

Although Michigan won a 7-6 verdict at Illinois last year, it is six years since the Wolverines won at Ann Arbor. The Illini triumphed in 1936, by a 9-6 score, and in 1934 by a 7-6 count.

Talented kickers have played important parts in the results. Three Wolverines have place-kicked field goals to defeat the Illini by 3-0 scores: Steketee at Illinois in 1921; Benny Friedman at Illinois in 1925, and Gembs at Michigan in 1925. Spurgeon's place-kick won for the Illini at Illinois in 1935.

In 1936 at Ann Arbor, Dave Strong, then with Illinois, place-kicked early in the game for what proved to be the decisive points of a 9 to 6 victory for the Illini.

Four games have been won by the one-point margin of a goal after touchdown, two by each team.

P. G. A. TO MEET
Chicago, Oct. 27.—The annual meeting of the Professional Golfers' Association of America will be held here, Nov. 15-17.

Schooner Bluenose May Carry Title to History

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 27.—The big salt banker Bluenose, successful defender of the trophy emblematic of the sailing championship of the North Atlantic headed for Canada today with every prospect it would carry the title into history.

Motors virtually have plucked clean the white wings of the fishing fleets and Capt. Ben Pine, managing owner of the Gloucester schooner Gertrude L. Thebaud said he would not challenge again for the International Fishermen's trophy.

The skippers of the Thebaud, beaten in the final race yesterday, and Captain Angus Walters of the Canadian cup defender expressed their displeasure with the series. Walters said he would race in Canada but never again in the United States.

Captains Pine and Moulton, of the Thebaud, charged Capt. Charles Lyons, head of the race committee kept the schooners in port when there was a good sailing breeze and sent them out when it wasn't blowing.

Tennessee Lad Threatens Football Scoring Record

Kingsport, Tenn., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Eighteen-year old Bobby Cifers, 183-pound triple threat star on the Kingsport high school football team appeared today to be headed toward national high school scoring honors for the year.

With four more games to play, he already has run up 166 points in seven games—23 touchdowns and 16 points after from placement.

Friends say he has an excellent chance to tie or exceed the 211 points scored for Austin high, Chicago, last year by Bill De Correvont, who is now a freshman at Northwestern university.

Thus far this year in only one game, with Chattanooga, Tenn., central high, has Cifers been stopped cold. The score was 0-0. But he scored from two to six touchdowns in other games, including one with Peoria, Ill.

Illinois Towns Invited Into Basketball Tourney

St. Louis, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The basketball committee of the Ozark A. A. U. decided last night to invite Southern Illinois teams out of its district to participate in an open tournament, tentatively scheduled in St. Louis the first week of February.

Alton, Belleville and East St. Louis are among nearby Illinois cities within the district. Outside teams previously had been prevented from competing because of a closed rule, which has been rescinded. Cities now eligible include Springfield, Decatur, Cairo, Quincy and Benton.

Basketball Franchise Awarded to Warren, Pa.

Akron, O., Oct. 27.—(AP)—The national Basketball League franchise dropped recently by Fort Wayne, Ind., has been awarded to Warren, Pa., C. A. "Lefty" Byers, league secretary-treasurer, announced today.

Lack of capable players was given as Fort Wayne's reason for withdrawal. Warren, coached by Gerry Archibald, has agreed to assume all schedule obligations.

With Warren, the league's eastern division is complete. It also includes the two Akron clubs, Goodyear and Firestone, and Pittsburgh.

BASKETBALL NEWS

Milwaukee, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The Marquette university basketball team will meet Carleton college of Northfield, Minn., in a game Dec. 23 at Elgin, Ill., athletic director Conrad M. Jennings of Marquette announced today. The game will be a feature of a program dedicating a new gymnasium at the Elgin high school.

IN THE RUNNING

Madison, Oct. 27.—Howard Weiss, Wisconsin fullback, has been nominated by a campus fraternity bloc as a senior class presidential candidate. Badger athletes have been kept out of campus politics for years but Coach Harry Stuhldreher consented to Weiss' candidacy.

WOULD EXPAND

New York, Oct. 27.—Long Island University students, who already have one of the nation's outstanding collegiate basketball teams, are petitioning Dean Tristram Walker Metcalfe for a football team.

KERR'S QUICKEST CHOICE

DYCHE STADIUM HAS BEEN JINX TO THE GOPHERS

Bierman's Minnesota Teams Have Never Won at Evanston

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Minnesota's mighty eleven will attempt Saturday to add Northwestern's Dyche Stadium to the ever growing list of fields on which the Golden Gophers have marched to triumph during the dynasty of Coach Bernie Bierman.

In his seventh season as head tutor of the Northmen, Bierman has seen his Minnesota teams build the remarkable record of 42 victories against only six defeats and four ties. From Pittsburgh's Hill stadium on the east to Seattle on the west, the wily, gray-haired Gopher mentor has watched his eleven sweep opponents aside with speed or crush them with paralyzing power attacks.

Tie in 1933

Never has a Bierman-coached Minnesota team won on Northwestern's field. His second edition of Gophers played a scoreless tie there in 1933. In 1936 Minnesota's mighty men, strong favorites, were defeated 6 to 0 in a stunning upset which Gopher fans long will remember. And Bierman can remember 1930, when he brought a good Tulane team to the Wildcat lair and watched it lose, 14 to 0.

So a victory Saturday would be sweet for Minnesota. A triumph over the Wildcats in this outstanding engagement, which will draw a capacity crowd of 47,000 fans, would make Bierman's team a strong favorite for the undisputed Big Ten crown. Currently the only undefeated and untied team in the conference, the Gophers would brighten their chances for a claim to national honors by downing the Wildcats, who have only a tie marring their record.

A Real Job

But they'll have a job on their hands, even with the return to action as a starter of Harold Van Every, triple threat Gopher star. Against Illinois, Northwestern showed flashes of great power and a consistently good all-around defense. Coach Lynn Waldorf thinks the Wildcats are due to reach their peak. Should they hit it Saturday, the outcome may be one of the hardest fought games of the entire season.

The Gophers yesterday went through their last contact work before leaving for Evanston. Right end George Nash was relieved by Bill Johnson during the heavy work because of a Charley-horse. The Wildcats were sent through a long defensive scrimmage against Minnesota, passing plays demonstrated by the freshmen before Lynn Waldorf drilled them on new plays in a dummy scrimmage.

In Other Camps

Wisconsin—Bill Schmitz, left half and key to Badger passing attack, and his alternate, Tony Gradinski, declared definitely out of Saturday's Indiana homecoming by injuries causing search for backfield substitutes to plug gaps.

Indiana—Bo McMillin solved Hoosier injury problem by putting Ray Dumke, sophomore, at fullback and James Ellenwood, junior, at left end for Wisconsin game.

Purdue—Boilermakers passing attack went through hour drill with Mike Byelene, Lou Brock, Ted Tykocki and Jack Brown pitching in preparation for Iowa battle.

At Iowa

Iowa—Two former backs in the line added speed to the Hawkeyes who exhibited new spirit. All backs made long gains against freshmen in offensive scrimmage preparing for Purdue.

Ohio State—Francis Schmidt stressed speed as Buckeyes had last drill before entraining for New York University game in New York Saturday.

Michigan—Dave Strong, 1936 Illinois quarterback who transferred to Michigan, worked with Coach Fritz Crysler in schooling backs and ends on defense for Illini plays in Saturday's homecoming game.

Illinois—Bob Zupke continued to shift his lineup for Michigan game, indicating Jim Phillips and Herb Young, two sophomore ends, would start against the Wolverines.

Chicago—Alumnus Jay Berwanger made varsity defense look weak by shaking loose for long gains while demonstrating De Pauw plays with Maroon freshmen.

SCORING MONOPOLY

New York, Oct. 27.—Long Island University has boasted the leading scorer in eastern basketball ranks for the last five seasons, Jules Bender having led for three, and Ben Kramer and Irv Torgoff the last two.

Princeton, Ill., Boys Puzzle the Grid Fans

Monmouth, Ill., Oct. 27.—(AP)—For ten years boys from Princeton, Ill., have been playing end on Monmouth college eleven. And this season a pair of Princeton brothers star at ends.

They are Lyle and Leith Nelson and Monmouth followers are having a hard time remembering which is which. For example—

Against Ripon, both Nelsons rushed a Ripon passer. One, fans thought it was Lyle, batted the ball into the other Nelson's hands. The latter, they believed it was Leith, ran for a touchdown. Then Leith kicked the extra point.

Both are good pass receivers. Lyle is a good passer; Leith a good kicker. Both are sophomores.

Sister Aimee's Castle Sold at Bargain Price

Los Angeles, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson's Moorish castle, a $119,000 refuge decorated with $20,000 worth of gold leaf, passed today into the hands of two hardware dealers—at a bargain price.

Back in the 1920's, Sister Aimee built "El Minera" on an estate overlooking Lake Elsinore, and furnished its rooms in Oriental luxury.

Imported Chinese bric-a-brac stood in the spacious living room, against walls hand-painted with scenes of Arabic and Egyptian festivals.

BADGERS VOW IT WON'T HAPPEN TO THEM THIS WEEK

A grim faced University of Wisconsin football squad took up the routine of practice today, savagely intent on a battle for redemption when they meet Indiana in the Badger homecoming game at Camp Randall, Saturday. The players are still trying to figure out what happened in their second half collapse against Purdue.

After dominating the play completely in the first half, when they made 132 yards to Purdue's 4 and 8 first downs to the Boilermakers' one, which resulted directly from a penalty, Wisconsin, with a 7-0 lead, went down to crushing defeat when Purdue ran wild for 30 minutes in the second half, scoring 13 points while holding Wisconsin scoreless.

No one here is disposed to take a particle of credit away from Purdue, which played inspired football from the opening second half kick-off, yet giving the Boilermakers all credit, the Badgers still are too dazed to figure out what caused their own loss of fire and their failure even to approximate the football they had played in the first half.

Every Badger, however, now vows that it "won't happen again" against Indiana Saturday. If overconfidence had any part in the Purdue debacle, it is safe to say that there will be no such feeling when Wisconsin faces the Hoosiers. Despite Indiana's defeats, it is conceded that Bo McMillin's boys are potentially a first division outfit, capable when right of troubling the best in the conference.

In general, the squad came through the Purdue game in good condition but the one exception was Howie Weiss, kingpin of the Badger offense and defense, who suffered a badly bruised shoulder. This may keep him out of the Indiana game. Partially offsetting this loss, if Weiss does not play, will be the expected return of Bill Schmitz to the line-up. Like Weiss, Schmitz was the victim of a shoulder injury which prevented his playing against Purdue. While most of the squad was pretty well battered at Lafayette, all except Weiss should be ready for action in the homecoming game. Judging from the heavy ticket sales, the Purdue defeat will have little effect on the homecoming attendance.

Hilltoppers Will Bar Married Men in Future

Milwaukee, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Married athletes will be barred from future competition on Marquette university intercollegiate teams, Athletic Director Conrad M. Jennings announced today.

The rule, passed by the athletic board last month but not revealed until now, is not retroactive.

Married athletes now on Marquette rosters include Edward Burke, Negro high jumper and co-captain of the 1939 track squad, and the following football players: Herbert Anderson, end; Carl Siefert, tackle, and John Maltch, halfback. They are not affected by the rule.

POSTAL WORKERS RETURN TO JOBS AFTER WALKOUT

Temporary Agreement Is Effectuated After Protest By Employes

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Striking employes of the Postal Telegraph company returned to their jobs today under a temporary agreement reducing the work week from 48 hours to 46 and providing for extra overtime pay.

The nine-hour strike ended shortly after midnight today. Frank B. Powers, president of the Commercial Telegraphers union, said the agreement would be effective until the conclusion of negotiations which will start by Nov. 15.

Powers said the management agreed to limit the work week to 46 hours and to consider two hours as overtime for which employes would be paid double the hourly wage rate.

The union chief said the employes would receive the same pay for 46 hours under the agreement as they had received previously for 48 hours.

Walkout Was Protest
The strike was called in cities where the union, an A. F. L. affiliate, has agreements with the management or an organization among employes. Powers said the walkout was in protest against the company's refusal to negotiate a 44-hour week in accordance with the new wage-hour law.

He said the strike order was directed to 1,500 employes but that apparently less than 1,000 were affected. Employes in Houston, Tex., and Louisville, Ky., defied the strike order and those in Jacksonville, Fla., withdrew from the union and affiliated with the rival CIO group. Dallas workers, declaring they had not received a strike order, stayed on the job.

The Indianapolis Postal management announced the entire force had walked out. A union official said Kansas City employes engaged in a "stay-in" strike which hampered the company at one of its key relay points.

Self-Styled "Boiler Kid" Arrives in Miami

Miami Beach, Fla., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Cheerfully waving to a welcoming throng, Frederick B. Snite, Jr., self-styled "Boiler Kid," arrived today from Chicago in his 800-pound iron lung to spend another winter under Florida's sun.

His special train station drew into the Miami station in an early morning haze. The 28-year-old infantile paralysis victim's car was detached and placed on a siding. A moving van, which was to serve as his limousine for the ride across the Biscayne Bay Causeway to Miami Beach, backed up to the car and young Snite was quickly transferred to it.

Approximately 200 persons crowded around and called greetings. Nurses, a physiotherapist, two orderlies and two special electricians. Stricken in China in 1936, he appeared to be in better physical condition than last year and asserted he felt fine.

Bickering of Labor Is Hit by Catholic Women

Biloxi, Miss., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Resolutions supporting the National Labor Relations act but criticizing labor leaders for their bickering marked the close of the annual meeting of the National Council of Catholic women here.

The resolutions approved in last night's closing session, also supported Secretary Hull's reciprocal trade policy, and the Federal neutrality act. Preparedness was advocated.

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

Another pool-ball artist has come to the fore. He has worked out a very novel problem which will give you a good workout. There are, of course, fifteen pool balls, numbered one through fifteen. Can you arrange them in regular, triangular form, so that the three balls in the center total thirty-two and the five balls on each of the three sides also equal thirty-two? If you can accomplish this fairly quickly you are streamlined. It's a good problem.

Answer to Yesterday's Twizzler

LIKENS NEW DEAL FINANCE TO KIND USED BY WHITNEY

The Roosevelt administration, in its financial policies, is likened to Richard Whitney, imprisoned Stock Exchange leader, in an article in the current Collier's by Bruce Barton in which the New York congressman gives much credit to the New Deal for initiating reforms but criticizes it for failure to carry them out successfully.

Writing under the title, "What's Wrong With Roosevelt," Representative Barton, a leader of the younger Republican group, pays particular attention to the administration's financial policies. He says:

"When a nation begins to deceive itself about its finances, when its rulers have managed to convince themselves that a deficit is not a deficit, then look out. Unless all history lies, we are in for trouble. Our government today is doing the same sort of financing for which New York State sent Richard Whitney to Sing Sing. He, too, presumably, believed that he was committing no wrong. He just kept passing out the promissory notes, sure that some day he would make a lucky turn and be able to pay everybody back. Mr. Roosevelt knows history. He should know how dangerous is his present state of mind.

"The incessant emphasis upon 'wealth' and 'income' is a false note that is now bringing its own retribution. Stimulated by the President's example, echoing his reiterated assurance that everything will be all right if only sufficient purchasing power is distributed down below, a horde of political hangers-on are going to town. If a little purchasing power at the bottom is good, they say, then surely much purchasing power is better. So they exploit the hopes and fears of old people, and are elected on promises of 'thirty dollars every Thursday' or 'Sixty dollars every Saturday,' or whatever it takes to win.

"The fallacy in all this, of course, is that money is not wealth. A state or a nation may print and distribute 'thirty dollars every Thursday,' but no old person can eat thirty dollars; you cannot put the piece of paper in the pot and cook it; you cannot sew it into clothes to put on your back. Money has value only as it represents goods created by work or services rendered."

In analyzing the New Deal record to date Representative Barton continues:

"Judging by the record of six years, I believe Mr. Roosevelt will be remembered as a sincere humanitarian, as a man of courage when the nation had almost lost its courage, as the inaugurator of immense reforms and the awakener of the national conscience. Also as one who started many things but finished few, who stepping out of the White House after eight years of unrelenting legislation, left to his successor the herculean task of revising his reforms and making them work; and the even more challenging problem of how to arouse a spirit of patriotism and self-sacrifice sufficient to make people willing to tighten up their belts and pull the country out of the financial bog into which extravagance and cockeyed economics have plunged it."

Mr. Barton believes that the next President, if a Republican, should appoint the ablest administrators the country can provide to his cabinet and place responsibility upon them; call into conference the leaders of agriculture, industry and labor and lay upon their shoulders the burden of collaboration in the public interest, and return promptly to Congress the powers taken from it under the plea of "emergency" in 1933.

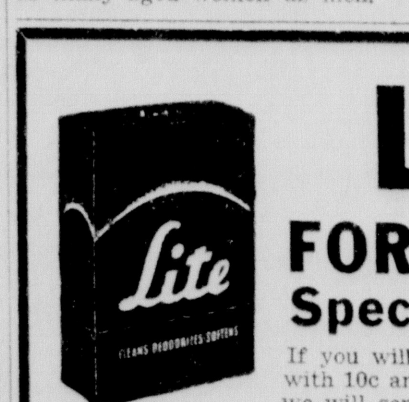

Police Quiet Disorder After a Bund Meeting

Newark, Oct. 27.—(AP)—One hundred policemen used their night sticks today to halt disorders as a hostile group of several hundred attacked uniformed members of the German-American Volksbund as they attempted to leave a meeting. Five men were arrested.

Members of the pro-Nazi group were leaving the hall when police said the crowd rushed the German-American group, estimated by police at 200.

The police on guard ordered the Bund members back into their hall and charged into the crowd. They drove them back, and then escorted the Nazis out of the hall in two to waiting automobiles.

AMENDING OF THE CONSTITUTION OF STATE UP TO VOTER

Issue Concerns Changes In the Rulings on Banking

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 27.—(AP)—For the seventeenth time since Illinois constitution was adopted in 1870, voters of the state will decide with ballots at the Nov. 8 election whether they want to amend it.

The issue is whether two major changes should be made in the constitution as it applies to state banking.

One change would remove the double liability on bank stockholders. They now are subject to assessment on the full amount of their stock to pay creditors in the event of a bank failure.

The second change would allow the legislature to enact banking laws without submitting them first to a vote of the people. Instead such legislation would have to receive a two-thirds majority vote in both houses of the General Assembly.

To Acquaint Voter

Unusual steps to acquaint the voters with the proposed amendments were taken by the legislature. The assembly ordered an explanatory pamphlet distributed to all voters by Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes. Five million copies have gone out.

Another innovation places the amendment question on the main ballot this year, instead of on a separate small ballot which past experience showed the voters were prone to ignore.

In the 58 year history of the state constitution, seven amendments have been approved by the voters. Nine have failed. In most of the latter cases, a majority of those voting favored the proposals, but they lost for lack of a majority of all votes cast in the election. That, too, is a constitutional requirement.

The last successful amending effort was in 1908, when voters sanctioned a $20,000,000 state bond issue to build the Utica-Lockport canal. Up to that time the constitution had barred such projects. Since 1908 five attempts to amend the constitution have failed, although four of them received large affirmative majorities of those who took the trouble to vote.

FOR RABBIT HUNTERS

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Here's good news for rabbit hunters—the state department of conservation says they're more plentiful this year. To offset a shortage in northern Illinois, the department transported 4,000 rabbits, trapped in southern Illinois, to 36 counties in the northern sector and freed them. The rabbit season opens Nov. 10 and continues through Dec. 31.

COMMITTEE HEARS REPORTS ON PROBES OF STATE PRIMARIES

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The Senate campaign expenditures committee asked its Georgia investigators today to report on charges of primary election irregularities in that state.

Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) said the Georgia case involved alleged illegal registrations as well as a long list of complaints submitted by former Governor Eugene Talmadge, who was defeated for the Democratic senatorial nomination by Senator Walter F. George.

The committee heard reports from six states yesterday, sending investigators back to Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania and winding up inquiries in California, Wisconsin and Indiana.

It ordered a renewed inquiry into charges by A. H. Greening, state's attorney at Springfield, Ill., that Federal aid road funds were misused in connection with the Illinois primary election. The committee said it would wait no longer for an anticipated grand jury report.

The committee called on Senator Bulkley (D-Ohio) for a statement on reports that about 50 Federal officials and employees had made contributions to a Bulkley-for-Senator club. The committee has ruled that Federal employees may not contribute legally to the campaign fund of a congressional candidate and that such candidates may not solicit Federal workers for contributions.

The committee decided Senator Duffy (D-Wis.) had no knowledge of a fund solicitation letter sent out for a Duffy-for-Senator club.

It dismissed as unfounded a half dozen charges of alleged political activity involving the Works Progress Administration in Indiana and said it found nothing connecting Sheridan Downey, California Democratic senatorial nominee, with the raising of political funds by Federal old age pensioners in his state.

Overnight Hike Being Planned by Local Scouts

Final arrangements are being made this week for the overnight hike slated for Friday after school of Boy Scout Troop 89. Scouts are requested to meet immediately after school all ready to go. Each Scout should add to his list of equipment one folding cot which is very essential. A truck will take all camping equipment to the spot where the boys will spend the night.

All first class Scout requirements will be on review the next morning when the Scouts will cook their own breakfast. Following on the program will be first class nature study, judging, axe-work, signalling, map making and exploring groups.

Because of the conflicting dates of the hike and the freshman party on this Friday evening, for those Scouts who will not be able to attend this overnight, there will be a similar hike the second week of November. However all Scouts who can possibly go will not regret it as a big time is in store for all.

CAMPAIGN EXPENSES
Washington — (AP) — T. V. Smith, of Chicago, Democratic candidate for congressman-at-large from Illinois, reported to the clerk of the house yesterday that he had spent $1,409 in his campaign and had received contributions of $170.

Frank M. Ramey, of Hillsboro, Ill., Republican candidate, reported contributions of $1,250 and expenditures of $434. He said the National Republican Congressional Committee was his sole contributor.

Nearly two-thirds of all the corn eaten in the United States is consumed in the area north of Washington, D. C., and east of Pittsburgh. Less than five per cent is produced in that area.

Rescue Sailor as Lifeboat Drill Becomes Reality

Death was cheated by coincidence in dramatic fashion during a recent trip of the S. S. Borinquen from Puerto Rico to New York. When the dread cry "Man overboard!" sounded on the ship, it at first seemed just part of the game being played—a routine lifeboat drill. But the fact that a life was really at stake was quickly realized when seamen spotted one of their mates thrashing about in the sea. By the happy coincidence of the boat drill, everything was in readiness for a quick rescue. In the unusual photo above, the sailor is seen in circle at left, while at right the rescue crew goes into action.

Tells Those on WPA That Demo Machine Will Not Know How They Vote November 8

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 27.—"To the man on WPA or relief I want to emphasize that the Democratic machine here in Illinois will not know how you vote on November 8. No one can check on the way you mark your ballot," declared A. K. Stiles, Republican state chairman, in a message issued today urging those on WPA and relief to vote the Republican ticket and free themselves from the domination of the Democratic party.

Stiles also advised Republican party workers to hold confidential meetings in private homes with persons on WPA and relief. "Some of these voters," he said, "are afraid to attend a Republican political meeting. When Republican workers talk with those who, through no fault of their own, find themselves on WPA or relief, they must emphasize the secrecy of the ballot and explain to them that the Democratic machine will not know how they vote and cannot punish them."

"GOP Not Against Relief"
"The Republican party," he said, "is certainly not against relief and WPA. It is not our belief that the WPA should be discontinued, and we have pledged that the WPA must be maintained until business and industry are able to re-employ those who are out of work."

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Donavon and son of Pekin and Mr. and Mrs. William Tomlin of Mason City, Ill., were recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Vogel. They are sister and brother of Mrs. Vogel and their visit was very enjoyable.

Mrs. Fred Schlipf is entertaining Mrs. Corbett Jefford and children of Pekin in her home this week.

Miss Mary Lefelman of Dixon is visiting in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Roman Ege, for a few days. Joe Muthers and wife accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Koehler of Peoria were here on Sunday to visit their sister Mrs. Ruth O'Connell.

Miss Lucile Petri has returned home from a happy two-weeks vacation spent with relatives in Peoria and Minonk. Miss Petri resumed her duties as telephone operator. Miss Charlotte Garland has been telephone operator during Miss Petri's absence.

D. D. Leonard and son Daniel were callers in Prophetstown on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan, William Kravov and daughter Miss Elaine motored to Dixon and attended the theatre one evening this week.

Frank Rhodenbaugh and wife are here from Lee Center staying in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Plenny McCarter, while Frank is assisting with the corn picking on his father's place.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Considine went to Dixon on Sunday evening to assist her mother, Mrs. Addie Blackburn in celebrating her birthday. Other guests who assembled to wish Mrs. Blackburn many happy returns of the day were a group from Amboy, Mr. and Mrs. Joe McGrath, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Reeder, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Merlo, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jones and Mrs. James Kelly, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dempsey of Dixon.

During the evening tables were set up for five hundred, with prizes being awarded. Later in the

"Our platform pledges complete home rule in the administration of relief. We guarantee a sufficient cash allowance for food, rent, clothing, shelter, and other necessities. However, we are against political dictation by the corrupt, domineering, and tyrannical WPA administrators."

State GOP Platform
"The platform of the Republican party in Illinois further pledges that men on WPA shall be paid prevailing union wages and that all jobs on the public works program should be filled without requiring political endorsement of party bosses."

"A vicious underhanded attack has been carried on among those on relief and WPA by our opponents. They have said that we will discontinue relief and WPA. They have gone even further and maliciously declared that if the WPA and relief were continued the Republican party would legally pauperize all recipients and disenfranchise them, which is ridiculous. It simply is not true."

"The fact that Harry Hopkins is meeting with Governor Horner and other WPA officials at this particular time in the campaign, checks very well with information coming to us that the Arvey-Horner machine will demand that WPA bosses crack the whip and try to compel WPA workers to vote Democratic—or else."

evening delicious refreshments were served.

ATTENDED MEETING.
Mrs. Harry Gaskill, Mrs. Marion Gaskill, Mrs. I. H. Perkins, Mrs. John Hicks, Mrs. Will Dietz, Mrs. Alfred Clatworthy and Mrs. George E. Ross motored to Dixon on Wednesday where they attended a district meeting of the Ladies Aid. The meeting was held in the M. E. church and a large crowd was present.

RANTOUL GUESTS.
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Miller and Miss Loretta Youman motored here from Rantoul on Saturday and were guests in the Plenny McCarter home. They returned home on Monday accompanied by Mrs. Louise McCarter, who will spend a few weeks with relatives.

ROCKFORD VISITORS.
Mrs. Lloyd Considine accompanied Mrs. Joe McGrath of Amboy, Mrs. Addie Blackburn and Mrs. Edward Dempsey of Dixon to Rockford one day the latter part of the week.

HOUSEHOLD SCIENCE CLUB.
Mrs. Edward Schlipf delightfully entertained some twenty-four members of the Kimball Household Science club in her home on Wednesday afternoon. The time was spent in piecing a quilt for the hostess. After a pleasant afternoon, delicious refreshments were served.

Moving Objects Appear Upside Down to Youth

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Everything that moves seems upside down to 8-year-old Richard Kenealy.

The discovery by his parents and teachers that Richard's world is topsy-turvy made him an object of scientific curiosity today.

The boy, a second grade pupil reads upside down and backward. A moving automobile, he said, seems as though its wheels are in the air but when it stops it is instantaneously back to normal.

On the playground Richard's friends appear to be running upside down, and a ball thrown overhead appeared to be delivered with an underhand sweep. Dr. S. J. Krump, a public school oculist, said the case was unique in his 19 years of practice. He expressed the belief that careful and patient muscular training would make Richard's vision normal.

The red-haired youngster was described as a normal except for his vision.

Automobile wheel bearings should be lubricated at least three times a year.

GIRL ATTACKED BY POLAR BEAR WILL LOSE HER LEFT EYE

Cleveland, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Slender little Julia Zennick, 21, will survive a vicious attack by a polar bear in a Brookside zoo cage, doctors said today, but it may be necessary to remove her left eye.

Pronounced in critical condition from loss of blood and multiple injuries, the attractive Federal Art project worker rallied after a blood transfusion in which Clyde Henderson, 33, high school teacher and friend of the aspiring artist, was the donor.

Perched on a ledge overlooking the cage, Miss Zennick yesterday was sketching the 600-pound beast, called "Silver," when she tumbled or was pulled into the cage by the female bear. For nearly 20 minutes "Silver" clawed and mauled the girl.

Two men, art project associates, tried vainly to stone the animal before summoning help.

One eye gouged, her scalp ripped virtually to shreds and wounded about the face and neck, the semi-conscious Miss Zennick was rescued by Curley Wilson, zoo superintendent, and two aides. Wilson drove the infuriated "Silver" from the prostrate girl with a pole. His assistants looped a rope over the young woman's ankle and pulled her to a cage door. Keeper Edward Hagen, who lifted the girl in his arms, said she whispered: "Tell everyone I want to live."

EXECUTION STAYED
Chicago.—(AP)—Robert Nixon, 19-year-old negro, who was scheduled to die in the electric chair early Friday for the brick slaying of Mrs. Florence Johnson, yesterday was granted a stay until Nov. 10 by Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of criminal court.

Nixon's attorney had pleaded for an extension to enable him to appeal to the supreme court. The state board of pardons and paroles at Springfield today was scheduled to hear a petition for a 30-day stay.

Statistics gathered some years ago in New York state showed the death rate for single men to be markedly higher at all ages than that for married men.

David Livingstone, the famous African missionary and explorer, had wanted to go to China and was greatly disappointed when assigned to Africa.

Goes to Court to Prove His Trade is Skilled

St. Louis, Oct. 27.—(AP)—George J. Simon has gone to court to prove there's a difference between sign erecting and sign hanging.

When the telephone company notified him his classified listing would be changed from "sign erector" to "sign hanger," Simon immediately sought a court injunction.

He claimed he would lose customers if the change is made, asserting that "sign erection is scientific in nature, requiring unusual skill, whereas sign hanging implies a limited field with a small degree of skill."

DOUBLE TROUBLE

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 27.—Bob and Bud Orf, Missouri regular ends, are twins.

Thirteen per cent of Iceland's area is covered by snowfields and glaciers.

INDIANA FARMERS PLAN PROTEST OF LAND PURCHASES

Bloomfield, Ind., Oct. 27.—Hill farmers of eastern Greene county prepared today to put before President Roosevelt a petition protesting against a government plan to buy up their farms over a 136,000-acre stretch in a $1,000,000 land utilization project.

They signed the petition in nearby Solsberry high school gymnasium last night. An estimated 500 persons were at the meeting.

Robert Yoho, high school teacher and president of the eastern Greene County Home Protection league, said if the league could get the money together, a farmers' committee would go to Washington with the protest. Otherwise, he said, the petition would be mailed.

The petitioners asked the government to withdraw its project for buying land in six townships which the bureau of agriculture economics has held unfit for farming and has turned it into forest and pasture. They said the plan was "not desired in this area."

In its place, they proposed the department of agriculture give them "various agricultural help to make this a progressive farming community." Spokesmen explained they wanted not money but training in building up fertility of the eroded hill country.

BURNED TO DEATH

Lincoln, Ill.—(AP)—Marilyn Young, 16, of near Beason, was burned to death yesterday when a coal stove she was attempting to light with the aid of kerosene exploded. Her four-year-old brother, Jesse, was seriously burned and her mother, Mrs. Albert Young, suffered minor burns. Fire which followed the explosion destroyed the residence.

Life insurance originated in the days of Rome.
